Nearly Score of Issues Carried to New High Levels for the Year Before Selling Hits Market.

HEAVY WEEK-END PROFIT-TAKING

Fear That Revival of Bullish Activity and Heavy New Offerings Might Cause Tight Credit.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, May 11.—The stock market ran into a storm of selling in the last hour of trading today and prices generally closed lower on the reaction, which was due in part to heavy week-end profit taking, and came after an early rally had carried nearly a score of issues to new high levels for the year. Final quotations disclosed a long list of net declines ranging from 1 to 5 points.

Fear that the recent revival of bullish activity and the unusually heavy new offerings would again cause a tight credit situation next week undoubtedly prompted much of the day's selling. Some uneasiness also was apparent as a result of the irregularities being stressed in some of the weekly business and trade reviews.

3 to 5 Point Losses.
Adams Express, Borg Warner, National Biscuit, Greene Cananea Copper, Johns Manville and Packard Motors all closed at net declines of 3 to 5 points. Other popular industrials such as U. S. Steel common, General Motors, American Can, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, American Smelting, Anaconda Copper and Texas Gulf Sulphur closed at 1 to 2 1/2 points lower. A few issues showed outstanding strength. Sparks Withington reached nearly 10 points of its 12 1/2 point gain, and International Business Machines ran up more than 5 points to a new high at 156. United Corporation was again one of the most active features in today's market, going to a new high record. Chesapeake Corporation ran up to a new high in response to the declaration of a 33-1-1 per cent stock dividend. Total sales ran close to 2,000,000 shares.

Foreign Exchange Quiet.
Few important changes took place in the foreign exchange markets. Wheat futures closed steady, unfavorable Missouri reports and the firmness of the Winnipeg market acting as a restraining influence on the recent selling movement. Corn prices dropped about 3/4 a cent, a result of speculation in the market and disappointment over the cash demand for the commodity and easier Southwestern markets. Cotton rallied about 25c to 50c a bale on the prospect of unfavorable weather.

Money Drop Thought Temporary.
In quarters where the money situation is followed with more than usual close scrutiny there is little disposition to accept the abrupt relaxation in demand rates from the 14 per cent high of Thursday to yesterday's 6 per cent charge as marking definite passing of the stringency. On the contrary, conditions operative in the market are believed to forebode comparatively high rates for some time to come. Relaxation on Thursday was due to the influx of out-of-town funds, attracted here by high rates prevailing. The further abrupt drop yesterday, on the other hand, was the result of the appearance of several of the larger local banks as lenders.

Copper Statistics Awaited.
More than the customary interest is being shown in the forthcoming monthly copper statistics which should be available early next week. Wall street is particularly keen about the possible influence which the developments of the last few weeks in the copper market may have had on the activities of the industry. Following the spectacular rise of copper prices in March, it was found that the upturn in metal prices had been effective in stimulating production sharply.

Closing stock prices with other tables and market news will be found on pages 8, 9, and 10.

Hoover Planning Tour
Of South Next Autumn

President Expects to Make Trip Independent of Proposed Journey to West Indies and Cuba.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 11.—President Hoover contemplates a tour of the South and is hopeful that the administrative and legislative situation will be cleared up sufficiently so that he can absent himself from the capital for some time this fall.
The trip will be separate from the journey he is to make to the West Indies for visiting to Cuba, Porto Rico and perhaps some other islands. He hopes to be able to round out his good will tour of Latin America within a year.
The Southern trip will take him as far southwest as Texas, which has been urged to visit ever since his election.
Formal invitations have come to the President from the chambers of commerce of Dallas, Fort Worth and Houston, and expectation is that he will arrange his schedule so as to visit all three of these places.

May Visit Flood Area.
Naturally he will want to revisit the scenes of his flood relief work on the Mississippi two years ago, and so is expected to include Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee and perhaps Arkansas in his schedule.

SINCLAIR'S TIPPING OF JAIL EMPLOYEES
ENDED BY WARDEN

Millionaire's Pocket Money, All but $5 or $6 Taken From Him, Peak Explains.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 11.—Major William L. Peak, superintendent of the Washington jail, said today he had advised Harry F. Sinclair, millionaire oil magnate, in jail for 90 days, the tipping of jail attendants was not permitted and that from now on the no-tip rule would be enforced. Peak took this action after his attention had been called to the generosity of the oil man to his fellow prisoners and jail employees.

As a result, all of Sinclair's money, except "five or six dollars" has been taken away from him and placed in the office safe. The money left in his possession is to enable Sinclair to purchase sweets and other delicacies at the jail store.

Peak said Sinclair brought about $200 or $300 to the jail with him and a large part of this was placed in the safe upon his arrival.

An investigation was started after Peak heard that Sinclair had given an attendant $5 for performing an errand.
"The attendant may have said he got a $5 tip," said Peak, "but more likely it was a lot less than that."

PASTOR BEATEN BY MEMBERS OF
HIS CHURCH DIES

The Rev. Andrew Lajunen of Mullan, Idaho, Says Four Attacked Him Because of Sermon.

By the Associated Press.
PORTLAND, Ore., May 11.—The Rev. Andrew Lajunen, Finnish minister of the gospel, died in a Portland hospital yesterday as a result of a beating he received recently at Mullan, Idaho. The pastor told authorities the beating was administered by four members of his flock who objected to something he said in a sermon. An investigation has been started here and in Mullan.

Tennessee is the only one of these states he has visited since his nomination for the presidency.

Invitations also are before the Chief Executive to visit Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Alabama, and if possible he will make stops in all of those commonwealths.

One of the latest invitations from the South to reach Mr. Hoover is that from the American Legion at Birmingham to visit that city in November for the unveiling of a World War memorial.

Invitation from Charleston, Charleston, S. C., has extended an invitation that he visit that city in September for the opening of the King's Highway Bridge, a mammoth structure spanning the Cooper River and forming the last connecting link in the coastwise highway from New York to Florida.

Norfolk, Va., also has requested Mr. Hoover to visit there, and invitations have been extended for visits to Richmond, the capital of the confederacy, Raleigh and other cities farther to the South. It may be that time will permit only one stop in each State. If so, in the flood states he probably would stop at New Orleans, Vicksburg, Memphis and Arkansas City.

PORTLAND, Ore., May 11.—The Rev. Andrew Lajunen, Finnish minister of the gospel, died in a Portland hospital yesterday as a result of a beating he received recently at Mullan, Idaho. The pastor told authorities the beating was administered by four members of his flock who objected to something he said in a sermon. An investigation has been started here and in Mullan.

Death resulted from a fractured skull. The minister had been unconscious two days but rallied late Thursday and told about the attack which he said occurred last April 8. Lajunen said he left Mullan three days after the beating and went to Spokane, Wash. Later he came to Portland to visit a friend.

His condition became worse and he entered a hospital.

The minister said he had refused to sign a complaint against his assailants and that as a result the Sheriff at Mullan dropped the case. This version of the case differed somewhat from that of Chief of Police Welch of Mullan, who said that Lajunen was an itinerant preacher who had held two services there. The chief said that after the second sermon one man apparently followed the pastor and attacked him. By the time the man suspected of attacking Lajunen had been identified the suspect had left town.

The alleged assailant like the minister was a Finn. The sermon to which it is supposed exception was taken, was delivered in the Finnish language and it was not known by authorities what was said, if anything, to provoke an attack.

CHIEF WITNESS
AGAINST SHERIFF
IN DRY PLOT SLAIN

Body of Joe Clark, Shot Four Times, Twice in the Back, Found in Field Near Denver.

GOVERNMENT JOINS IN INVESTIGATION

Murdered Man's Testimony Before Grand Jury Resulted in Indictment of Official.

By the Associated Press.
DENVER, Colo., May 11.—The body of Joe Clark of Denver, character and chief witness for the Government against Walter Johnson of Golden, Sheriff of Jefferson County, recently indicted for conspiracy to violate the prohibition law, was found in a field north of Denver yesterday. He had been shot to death.

A cursory examination disclosed four bullet wounds in his body, two of which evidently had entered from the back. Detectives advanced the theory that Clark was shot while trying to escape from captors.

The Sheriff was indicted a month ago on conspiracy charges said to have been the outgrowth of testimony given the Federal grand jury by Clark, who at the time of his death was facing a State charge of operating a still.

Because Clark was a Government witness attaches of the Department of Justice joined with Jefferson and Denver County police officials in seeking the killers.

U. S. BARGE LINE PERMITTED TO EXPORT WHEAT RATES

33 1-3 Per Cent Reduction Authorized by War Secretary in Line With Hoover's Suggestion.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 11.—Reduction of rates on export wheat carried by the Mississippi-Warrior Service of the inland waterways Corporation's barge line was authorized today by Secretary of War Good to be effective between May 15 and Sept. 29. The reductions are approximately 33 1-3 per cent.

The reduction, recommended by Major-General T. Q. Ashburn, chairman of the board of the corporation, is in line with the recent action of railroads curbing rates in accordance to President Hoover's suggestion that the grain rates on export wheat and flour be lowered. It also is a continuation of the Federal Barge Line's policy to reduce its rates so as to maintain a differential under rail rates.

The new barge line rates will be 10 cents per 100 pounds to New Orleans from St. Paul-Minneapolis; 9.7 cents from Burlington, Ia.; 13.5 cents from Kansas City and Omaha; 6 cents from St. Louis, and 4.5 cents from Cairo, Ill.

BALDWIN AGAINST JOINING COALITION TO BLOCK LABOR

In That Event, King Must Take Actual Responsibility of Picking Next British Prime Minister.

NO PARTY LIKELY TO WIN MAJORITY
Premier Declines to Answer Lloyd George's Question Whether He Would Put Socialists in Power.

By JOHN L. BALDERSON, London Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

LONDON, May 11.—With the election three weeks off, it became probable today that the task of deciding who will be the next Prime Minister would be up to the convening King George. Premier Baldwin, making a campaign speech last night, gave indication that the King must act on his own responsibility, if no party gets a majority.

(In case one party has a majority, it is customary for the King to call on the leader of the party to form a Cabinet; or if a coalition is formed, to ask the leader of the dominant party in the coalition to become Prime Minister. If no coalition is formed, then the initiative would lie with the King.)

"Mr. Lloyd George has addressed to me the question whether I would advise His Majesty to put a Socialist Government into power," he said. "That is a hypothetical question, but it is established that the selection of Prime Minister is the unbiased choice of the crown itself and if the Minister does not feel restrained by the ordinary decency of life from communicating to the public a private conversation with his sovereign he is debarré from so doing by his privacy council."

Significant Declaration.
This declaration by Baldwin is of great significance for it places responsibility in effect from his own shoulders to that of the monarch in the event of a Tory failure to get a majority over both other parties combined. Baldwin has been trying to maneuver Baldwin into a position where responsibility can be put on him. If the King asks Ramsay MacDonald, Labor leader, to form a government.

The Liberals have been attacked for five years for having, by their support, placed Labor in office the last time, and Baldwin's answer, quoted above, is taken in political circles to mean that if Labor returns more seats than Tories, or even if Labor has less than the Tories, but the Tories have not an absolute majority, then Baldwin would prefer to see Lloyd George rather than enter a coalition against them.

Regency Once Proposed.
Two months ago it had practically been decided to appoint the Prince of Wales regent so that responsibility for dealing with a possibly extremely serious parliamentary situation might not fall upon the King. This project was abandoned under circumstances that are extremely obscure. The King's memory has largely been restored and both Queen and Prince are said to have opposed a regency.

Goetz has it that the doctors ultimately agreed that it would be more worrying for the King to know that someone else was doing his job than to do it himself, even though they originally told the Cabinet that such a crisis ought not to be imposed upon him. All this was bearing on Baldwin's words. He served notice on Lloyd George, and incidentally on Labor, that since the King remains in authority the King must bear the responsibility for the choice of the next government, if that choice does not settle itself by either Tory or Labor securing a clear majority.

DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS BETWEEN THE IRISH FREE STATE AND THE VATICAN

By the Associated Press.

DUBLIN, May 11.—The Irish Free State Government has decided to establish diplomatic relations with the Vatican. Pope Pius has accepted the proposal and the necessary preliminaries have been completed. The Pope will send a representative to Dublin, and will receive a representative from the Irish Free State.

The Irish Free State is the first Government to make such an announcement since the conclusion of the Italian armistice with the Pope recognizing the sovereignty of the Papal State. Several other countries, however, long have had accredited representatives at the Vatican.

Peel, which ran: "Do you know Lloyd George, with his coat so gay, he can turn it and wear it either way."

His attack was directed at the Laborites. He opened with a remark about the coat, and then marked the third anniversary of the close of the general strike of 1926, declaring that the general strike was a logical outcome of the propaganda of violence.

"Those who preached those doctrines sowed the wind and the nation reaped the whirlwind," he declared. "The general strike was a challenge to orderly government. We were heading straight for anarchy and despotism. In the seclusion of the Socialist headquarters Mr. MacDonald no doubt gave advice which might be given by a member of the Society of Friends."

"MacDonald was not cut out for a Robespierre. He dislikes revolutions as much as I do. Like me he is a lover of the quiet place and of a beautiful thing, but the propaganda of violence had been spread among a people recovering from the shock of the great war and it had done its work."

MacDonald was equally strong in denouncing Baldwin. "If the present government returns to power it will remain for the next five years," he declared. He then accused the Premier of a safety first policy out of keeping with progressive which, he said, should be not lacking in caution, enterprise, boldness and audacity. He declared government by the Labor party would be a straight from the "new aristocracy" an aristocracy that had been born in mean streets and humble circumstances but had kept its manhood.

Baldwin stepped into the campaign as a candidate for Parliament today when he was unanimously selected by the Bewdley division Conservative Association as the division's Conservative candidate.

The leaders of the two other major parties also were named in their respective constituencies. MacDonald is candidate in Durham and Lloyd George in Carnarvon Boroughs.

Rerouting of Street Car Lines Recommended by City Engineer

CHANGES in the routing of street railway lines in the city, to reduce running time and improve street traffic conditions, have been recommended to the Transportation Survey Commission by its engineer, R. F. Kelker Jr., as follows:

Broadway Line.
No change.
Bellevue Line.
Southbound—Present route to Twentieth and Bremen; thence on Twentieth to Fifteenth, to Chambers, to Sixteenth, to Cass, to Eighth, to Clark, to Twelfth, to Russell, to Gravois, to Mississippi and thence over present route. (Until the track required in this routing are constructed on Russell and on Gravois between Twelfth and Victor, south bound Bellevue line cars are to be temporarily routed over Gravois, Lafayette and Mississippi from Twelfth and Soular to Gravois and Mississippi.)
Northbound—Present route to Victor and Gravois; thence on Gravois to Russell, to Twelfth, to Clark, to Ninth, to Twelfth, to Twentieth, to Salisbury, to Twentieth, to Penrose and thence over present route. (Until the tracks required for this routing are constructed on Gravois and Russell, northbound Bellevue line cars are to be routed over Victor, Twelfth, Gravois and Soular from Gravois and Victor to Twelfth and Soular.)

Westbound—Present route.
Locust, Locust to Fourth and Fourth to Olive.
Westbound—Olive to Twelfth.
Twelfth to Locust and thence route described above for eastbound.
Jefferson Line.
No change, except that cars are to be looped via Hebert, Prairie, Natural Bridge and Spring in order to eliminate the operation of Jefferson line cars from Grand boulevard. The line also would be extended over Chippewa street between Broadway and Grand boulevard.

Laclede Line.
Eastbound—Present route to Thirteenth and Market; thence Thirteenth to Pine and Pine to Fourth.
Westbound—Present route.
Lee Line.
The south division of the Lee line is to be discontinued and the cars to be supplied by increasing the service on the Broadway line and by operating Jefferson line cars on Chippewa between Jefferson and Grand. The north division of the Lee line is to be kept as the Republican party's pledge, we now rely upon the friends of agriculture of both parties of the House and Senate to use every effort to correct these manifest injustices.

"The bill also," continues the statement, "denies to the agricultural producers of the United States any measure of protection against products imported from the Philippine Islands. This denial was made in violation of the legal right to impose such duties, although the principle is admitted and declared in the bill."

Competition of Substitutes.
"The bill also fails to recognize a very serious problem which has been created by the tariff on sugar during the past decade. This problem has to do with the principle of levying import duties upon products which, although different, can be substituted for commodities produced in this country. The effect of competition through substitution is just as important to us as the effect of direct competition, commodity by commodity."

"We call attention to the long list of items in the schedules covering oils and fats and the raw materials from which such oils and fats are extracted, nearly all of which are interchangeable in whole or in part. This principle of substitution is just as important to us as the effect of direct competition, commodity by commodity."

Market Line.
Eastbound—Present route to Vandeventer and Chouteau; thence Chouteau to Fourth and Fourth to St. Charles.
Westbound—On St. Charles from Fourth to Broadway, Broadway to Chouteau, Chouteau to Vandeventer and thence over present route.
Natural Bridge and Tower Grove Lines.
These lines to be combined and through routed as follows:
Northbound—Present. Tower Grove route to Gravois and Arsenal; thence Arsenal to 9th, 9th to Barry, Barry to Broadway, Broadway to Chouteau, Chouteau to 7th, 7th to O'Fallon, O'Fallon to 11th, 11th to St. Louis, St. Louis to Jefferson, Jefferson to Hebert, Hebert to Prairie to Natural Bridge and thence over present route.

Southbound—Present. Natural Bridge route to Prairie and Natural Bridge; thence Prairie to Hebert, Hebert to Jefferson, Jefferson to St. Louis, St. Louis to 14th, 14th to Biddle, Biddle to High, High to Carr, Carr to 6th, 6th to Chouteau, Chouteau to Broadway, Broadway to Barry, Barry to 9th, 9th to Pestalozzi, Pestalozzi to Gravois, Gravois to Grand and thence over present Tower Grove route.
Olive-Deimars Line.
Eastbound—Present route to Fourth and Olive; thence Fourth to Pine.
Westbound—On Pine from Fourth to Thirteenth, thence Thirteenth to Olive and over present route.

Oliver-University and Oliver-Maryland Lines.
These lines to be combined and routed as follows:
Eastbound—Present. Oliver-University route to Kingshighway and Waterman; thence Kingshighway to Maryland and over present Oliver-Maryland route to Fourth and Olive; thence Fourth to Pine.
Westbound—On Pine from Fourth to Thirteenth, thence Thirteenth to Olive and over present Oliver-Maryland route to Kingshighway and Waterman; thence Kingshighway to Maryland and over present Oliver-University route.

Spaulding Line.
To be discontinued. Service to be supplied by an extension of the three avenue bus line to Page, through the territory now served by the Spaulding line.

TARIFF BILL SHORT OF G. O. P. PLEDGE, FARMERS DECLARE

12 Agrarian Organizations Petition Congress to Provide "Adequate Duties" on Farm Products.

By CHARLES G. ROSS, Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Twelve farm groups and allied organizations joined yesterday in a statement to Congress, declaring that the pending tariff bill falls far short of meeting the pledge given the farming interests in the last national Republican platform.

The statement quotes the agricultural platform of the Democratic and Republican platforms, and adds: "In view of this pledge of the Democratic party, and in view of the manifest failure of the new tariff to keep the Republican party's pledge, we now rely upon the friends of agriculture of both parties of the House and Senate to use every effort to correct these manifest injustices."

Reroute Trolleys and Reduce The Stops, Engineer Urges

between Broadway and Grand boulevard.
Mergers of Present Lines.
The following mergers of lines are proposed:
University and Maryland.
From Kingshighway to Boyle avenue and Olive street the new line would be routed over Maryland and Boyle avenues, the present Maryland route, by construction of two blocks of new tracks in Kingshighway. The present University tracks, from Kingshighway to Taylor avenue and Olive street would be abandoned. Downtown, the new line would run west in Pine street between Fourth and Thirteenth streets.

Cass and Cherokee. This merger would provide a continuous route from Belt road, St. Louis avenue at the northwest to Gravois avenue and the city limits at the southwest, with service downtown southbound in eighth street between Morgan street and Clark avenue and northbound in Ninth street between Clark and Cass avenues.
Natural Bridge and Tower Grove. This consolidation would give a continuous route from Kingshighway and Natural Bridge avenue at the northwest to Tamm and Southwest avenues at the southwest, with service downtown southbound in Sixth street between Carr street and Chouteau avenue and northbound in Seventh street between Chouteau avenue and O'Fallon street.

For Better Spacing of Cars.
Reroutings of present lines proposed are:
Delmar. Westbound, in Pine street between Fourth and Thirteenth streets.
Hodiamont. To have a new terminus at Hanley road and Balcon avenue, University City, running thence over new tracks and the Kirkwood-Ferguson line to its present line at Maple and Hodiamont avenues. Between Leffingwell avenue and High street which is to become the new Twelfth boulevard, the route would follow Franklin avenue instead of Wash street. Downtown, westbound, the line would run in Olive street between Fourth street and Twelfth boulevard. The present Hodiamont line would be discontinued between Maple avenue and the Suburban Garden loop.

City Limits. To be shifted from Hodiamont avenue to the present Hodiamont right-of-way, between Plymouth and Etzel avenues on the south and the Suburban Garden loop on the north.
Page. The present route between Taylor and Leffingwell avenues, over Finney avenue, Grand boulevard and Lucas avenue, would be abandoned. The new route would follow Taylor avenue to the Hodiamont right-of-way and coincide with the Hodiamont route on Enright and Franklin avenues to Leffingwell avenue, where it would turn to connect with the existing Page line at Lucas avenue. At the western terminus, cars would loop on the Hodiamont right-of-way instead of Hodiamont avenue.

Manchester. To follow Vandeventer avenue and Market street from Vandeventer and Chouteau avenues to Fourth street, instead of following Chouteau avenue and Fourth street.
Market. To follow Chouteau avenue between Vandeventer and Fourth streets, terminating at Fourth and St. Charles streets, instead of following Vandeventer avenue and Market streets.

Southampton. To follow Market street between Compton avenue and Thirteenth street, east from Vandeventer and Chouteau avenues to Fourth street, instead of following Chouteau avenue and Fourth street.
Bellevue. To be straightened at various places. Downtown it would run southbound in Eighth street and northbound in Ninth street, between Clark and Cass avenues, but when the new Twelfth boulevard is built north of Washington avenue this line would follow Twelfth between Clark and Cass.

Compton. From Compton and Lafayette avenues to Fourteenth street and Washington avenue, to follow Lafayette and Grattan streets between Thirteenth and Fourth streets.
Laclede. To go east in Pine street between Thirteenth and Fourth streets.
Lee. To run east in Franklin avenue between Eighteenth and Fourth streets and west in Locust street between Fourth and Twelfth boulevard.

Wellston. To go both ways in Easton avenue between Garrison and Leffingwell avenues.
Sarah. To be extended from Chouteau avenue to Magnolia avenue via Vandeventer and Tower Grove avenues.
It is apparent that several miles of track, in various short stretches, would have to be laid to provide for the various changes, but a number of miles of track elsewhere would be abandoned.

No estimate is given as to the reduction in running time under the proposed rerouting of cars, but the commission's engineer finds that even under existing routing and with present rolling stock and traffic conditions the running time can be reduced sufficiently to increase the speed on the entire system from an average of 10-52 miles an hour to 11.24 miles an hour, an increase of .52 of a mile an hour or 4.3 per cent.

The speed data applies to the non-rush hours, between 8:30 a. m. and 4:30 p. m. In rush hours the average speed is somewhat less—10.14 miles an hour—but the engineer believes this can be increased to 0.88 miles an hour, an increase of .44 of a mile an hour, or 4.3 per cent.

Rerouting Proposed.
In order to reduce the amount of time required to travel between the central business district and the outlying residential districts, as well as the time required to travel between various points in the city and also in order to improve street traffic conditions, Kelker reports it will be necessary to change some of the street car lines so that the number of stops will be eliminated and the routes made straighter.
There will be less overlapping of lines on streets with dense traffic, such as on Grand boulevard.

There will be a better spacing of lines, with more frequent service on one line rather than an infrequent service on each of two lines.
There will be a better distribution of cars in the downtown district in order to reduce concentrated loading and unloading to a minimum.
With these objectives in view, the commission's engineer presented his recommendations for the changes in the routing of the street railway lines, the detailed report of which appears elsewhere in this edition.

Little Inconvenience Expected.
Commenting upon his report, Kelker says: "I have made a comprehensive study of the present speeds, service, routing and riding characteristics of the street railway lines and have found that there is considerable opportunity to effect savings in time, to provide a more frequent service and to improve street traffic conditions, by changing the routes of some of the lines and by merging some lines with others. This, we are confident, can be done with very little inconvenience to the passengers carried on the street railway lines. We are sure that the benefits accruing to the large majority of street car patrons will outweigh by far the slight inconvenience a small percentage of the patrons may experience."

AUSTRALIA SEEMS PROTEST AGAINST REPARATIONS

Premier Bruce Opposes Exclusion of Dominion from Claims in Cable Proving Churchill's Stand

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, May 11.—A protest against the reparations commission proposal of Owen D. Young has been called by Premier Bruce of Australia to Premier Baldwin.

Premier Bruce expressed opposition to any plan to exclude the dominions from claims against Germany and approved the announcement of Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, that Young's plan was not acceptable to Great Britain.

Under the Young commission plan, the British, French and Belgian share of annuities would be reduced below the figure submitted several weeks ago and thus rejected by Germany.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, May 11.—Sir J. Stamp, British delegate, tonight in private conversations with Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, German reparations spokesman, to reduce the reparations figures of Owen Young.

The results these two achieved were reported to a plenary session of the Committee of Experts today. The revision of the national statements as provided in the Spa agreement has been sidetracked temporarily, the assumption being it will be solved by subsequent negotiations between the two nations.

It was in order that the German reparations—which, it is estimated, will be paid in the form of goods and services—be the only one to be offered by any nation—might be included in the subcommittee's report that Sir Josiah conferred with Dr. Schacht.

Conclusive wording of the reparations, which were under consideration, had been reduced from 11 to 10 years, and the total amount of the reparations had been reduced from 11 to 10 years, and the total amount of the reparations had been reduced from 11 to 10 years.

Under questioning by Robert E. Healy, chief commission counsel, Weyer testified that this Smithsonian survey was prepared while he was in the United States, and that the French press had been misled by the British press, and that the French press had been misled by the British press.

The letter of Pinchot, he added, was entitled "When Will Pennsylvania Get Its Fair Share of Niagara Falls Power?" and was printed in the New York Times on March 10, 1922.

He said that he started his work for the power organization on the Ontario project in April, 1924, and that he had been in the United States for some time, and that he had been in the United States for some time, and that he had been in the United States for some time.

SAYS POWER TRUST TRIED TO DISCREDIT ONTARIO PROJECT

TOLD IT "WASN'T STRONG ENOUGH"

S. S. Weyer Testifies They Wanted a Snappy Report Against Government Ownership.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Samuel S. Weyer, a consulting engineer of Columbus, O., today testified before the Federal Trade Commission that he had been efforts of the National Electric Light Association to make unfavorable surveys and studies of the Government-owned hydro-electric project in the Canadian province of Ontario.

Appearing as a witness at the commission's inquiry into publicity activities of public power utilities, Weyer told of a survey he made on the Ontario project in the fall of 1924 for the light association, which he said the association subsequently refused to accept because it was "not strong enough" in opposition to Government ownership.

"What they wanted was a snappy report on Government ownership," he said. "I refused to do this. I was willing to present the facts on Government and private ownership and let the reader draw his own conclusions."

Published by Smithsonian.
The report, he added, set up a comparison on each side of the case and did not contain any statement in regard to the merits or disadvantages of the two methods of ownership.

Weyer explained that prior to his survey of the Ontario project he had been doing some studies for A. W. Thompson, president of the Philadelphia Co. of Pittsburgh, which the Duquesne company was a subsidiary, in connection with the proposed power project in the Gov. Pinchot to Gov. Smith.

The letter of Pinchot, he added, was entitled "When Will Pennsylvania Get Its Fair Share of Niagara Falls Power?" and was printed in the New York Times on March 10, 1922.

He said that he started his work for the power organization on the Ontario project in April, 1924, and that he had been in the United States for some time, and that he had been in the United States for some time, and that he had been in the United States for some time.

Premier Bruce Opposes Exclusion of Dominion From Claims in Cable Agreement

London, May 11.—A protest against the reparations commission proposal of Owen D. Young has been received by the Australian government.

Premier Bruce expressed opposition to any plan to exclude the dominions from claims against Germany.

Young's plan was not accepted to Great Britain.

Under the Young compromise, the British, French and Belgian reparations would be paid below the figure submitted last week ago and then reduced by Germany.

Camp Jackson Survivors

Left to right: Joseph Grebin and Fred Geimer, only survivors of capture at Camp Jackson, who were present yesterday at anniversary celebration of that event.

Camp Jackson Victory Observed by Veterans

Only Two Survivors Able to Attend Ceremony Marking 68th Anniversary of One of Civil War's Opening Events.

The magic that is memory brought back the hosts of the past yesterday as a remnant of the 5000 soldiers who captured Camp Jackson celebrated the sixty-eighth anniversary of one of the opening events of the Civil War.

Of the 5000 less than half a dozen remain. Only two of these were able to answer to the roll call at the exercises at Lyon Park.

They were flanked by several survivors of the battle, who were present to witness the ceremony.

John Hamm, 1110 High street, testified he paid $32,200 for the bonds on representations by a salesman that he was buying "foolproof" securities.

Other witnesses, and their losses were: B. C. Huger, 2012 St. Louis street, $500; C. Pagan, 4263 Cass street, $100; J. H. Thiele, 2608 Loughborough avenue, $11,000; J. G. Taylor, Springfield, Mo., $1800; Miss Fern Watson, Mount Vernon, Ill., $4000.

E. E. Kilkenny, Cleveland, an accountant, testified that he went to work for Sloan's enterprises in January, 1925 the books were in a chaotic condition and trust funds were not properly segregated.

He rejoined the little band of comrades, five of them Negroes, as each of the six St. Louis posts of the Grand Army of the Republic and their auxiliaries presented wreaths which went to adorn the Lyon monument.

It was announced that Erhardt Seibert's equestrian statue of Gen. Lyon, which will be erected in the cutoff at Grand and Pine boulevards, will be ready to be cast into bronze in about 10 days.

Brief services were held there prior to the gathering at the park, where J. R. Field, Associate City Counselor, explained how the capture of Camp Jackson saved Missouri for the Union, and extended a greeting from veterans of the World War.

The ceremonies were opened by the Rev. Frank G. Beardsley, president of the monument association, and closed when Nelson Thurston, 14-year-old Boy Scout bugler, blew taps.

BUCKINGHAM PALACE GUARD MISSING 14 DAYS, SURRENDERS

Gives Up After Walking 500 Miles to Visit His Parents Before "Facing the Music."

ABERDEEN, Scotland, May 11.—Signalman who gave British traditions a shock a fortnight ago by disappearing from his sentry post outside of Buckingham Palace, turned up at his home here today.

The young sentry, who left his rifle, his busby, bandoliers and pouch under a bush near the palace, told his parents he had walked most of the way, a stretch of nearly 500 miles, from London in order to see his father and mother "before facing the music."

After bathing his blistered feet and eating a bite of breakfast he walked into police headquarters and announced: "I am the missing sentry."

He will be detained pending the arrival of an escort from the London barracks. He did not explain his disappearance.

He is 74 years old and has resided in St. Louis since 1882. He served as Circuit Judge from 1883 to 1885 by appointment to fill a vacancy and as Circuit Attorney from 1912 to 1916.

'FOOLPROOF' BUT BUYERS LOST ON W. A. BUSCH BONDS

John Hamm, St. Louis, Testifies at Mail Fraud Trial of Ex-Broker, That He Invested $33,000.

St. Louisans are taking the witness stand in Federal Court to tell of the losses they suffered on securities purchased from William A. Busch, former downtown broker.

Busch and George A. Griebel, an architect of Cleveland, are on trial before Federal Judge Farris and a jury on a charge of using the mails to defraud. They blame their predicament on the late Thomas G. Sloan.

Busch, who now lives in Eldorado, Ark., was head of a brokerage firm bearing his name which sold in St. Louis and vicinity about $500,000 of bonds of the Securities Guarantee Co. of Cleveland, of which Sloan was president.

Sloan's sudden death in April, 1925, it was found that the proceeds of the bond sales had not been segregated from his personal estate, and funds were lacking to complete buildings for which the bonds had been issued.

The Government charges that Busch, as well as Griebel, was apprised of the condition of Sloan's affairs at a conference in Cleveland, June 29, 1925, but that he continued to sell the bonds, and that he knew the securities had not the value declared by him.

The defendants maintained they had been assured Sloan's affairs would be straightened out satisfactorily.

C. W. Marschall, 7547 Marietta avenue, testified he bought $27,000 of the bonds and received but a few hundred dollars as his pro rata share of the assets taken over by the receiver.

John Hamm, 1110 High street, testified he paid $32,200 for the bonds on representations by a salesman that he was buying "foolproof" securities.

Other witnesses, and their losses were: B. C. Huger, 2012 St. Louis street, $500; C. Pagan, 4263 Cass street, $100; J. H. Thiele, 2608 Loughborough avenue, $11,000; J. G. Taylor, Springfield, Mo., $1800; Miss Fern Watson, Mount Vernon, Ill., $4000.

OFFICE PURSUES ROOSEVELT INTO INTERIOR OF CHINA

Asked in Message if He Will Accept Governorship of Porto Rico.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Selection of the next Governor of Porto Rico depends in a measure upon the character of a message which comes out of the interior of China, where Theodore Roosevelt Jr. and his brother, Kermit, are engaged upon a scientific expedition for the Field Museum of Natural History.

Inquiry has been made of the Roosevelt family whether Theodore Jr. would accept appointment as the successor of Gov. Horace M. Towner. They are unable to answer definitely and efforts are being made to get a message through to the former Assistant Secretary of the Navy.

The last cable from the Roosevelts was received by relatives several weeks ago. The brothers are so far in the interior of China that communication with them is slow and difficult.

HOOPER SEEKS $39,000,000 MORE FOR RAIL MAIL SERVICE

Money Needed to Pay Totals Increase Allowed by I. C. C. on Contracts.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—A recommendation for a supplementary appropriation of $39,000,000 to pay the railroads for carrying United States mail was made to Congress yesterday by President Hoover.

Some of the money would be expended in accordance with an Interstate Commerce Commission decision giving the railroads increased rates for transporting mail, while the remainder would go toward the increase for the fiscal year 1929.

Most of the railroads obtained increases of 15 per cent for carrying mail while separately owned roads of 100 miles or less got an 80 per cent increase. The decision was handed down July 10, 1928. It was estimated the commission's action would give the roads $15,000,000 additional each year.

FIVE MEN KILLED IN HOTEL FIRE IN AMARILLO, TEXAS

Two Fatally Injured When They Leap From Third Floor — Landlady Also Jumps and Is Hurt.

AMARILLO, Tex., May 11.—At least five persons perished in a fire which destroyed the three-story tourist hotel here today. Three others, one a woman, were injured seriously.

Authorities were unable to identify the victims immediately. The bodies of three men were found in the third floor. Two other men, one of whom was thought to be "Buffalo" Atchison, a cat burglar of Shamrock, Tex., were killed when they jumped from the third floor of the blazing building.

Two of the dead were identified later as Raymond Cost, Detroit, Tex., and Peter Kearns, Pine, Colo.

Miss Birdie Rhodes, who operated the hotel with Fred Rogers, a blind man, was injured, possibly fatally, when she leaped from a window. The others, dangerously injured were C. H. Welch, Gainesville, Tex., and R. Barnhart, Elk City, Ok.

Rogers, the blind manager, was burned on the hands and body. The fire started about 3:30 a. m. Those who escaped said the second and third floors were in flames, before an alarm could be given. The cause of the fire was not determined.

H. C. Wilson, aged oil mill worker who had lived in the hotel for the last 21 years, was saved because of a rope he had kept in his room since 1908. With the discovery of the fire he packed his suitcase, lowered it on his rope, tied the rope to his bed and slid to the ground.

Horse Show Draws Many Exhibits in Each Class

Annual Spring Display Opens at Missouri Stables—Large Number of Prizes Offered to Competitors.

Gas Motors common fell to a record low level, last night, as Horse preferred soared to a height seldom seen since the safe and sane days of, well, about 1905. In other words, the annual horse show opened at the Missouri Stables, 5209 Berthold avenue, with considerable fine horse flesh on exhibition and prizes ranging all the way from $200 in stakes to a waffle iron.

There was tan bark in the arena, and tan bark in the air. Occasionally a piece of tan bark got out of control and caressed the cheek of some eager spectator, but the horse show was a success.

The trouble with Agrioid was up in a certain wistfulness conjured up by his robust beauty. For Agrioid was a tremendous dapple gray horse, almost dwarfing the wagon he escorted. Agrioid is reminiscent, beautifully so, of other days. He may draw an express wagon.

But if Agrioid had lived a few years ago, he would have been attached to a long red wagon. In that wagon would have been countless wooden cases. In each case would have been 24 bottles. Agrioid may have thought he was disguised. But he didn't fool any one old enough to vote. Hail, Agrioid, and farewell.

They kept the most exciting event of the evening for the last. The Corinthian Class, jumpers. Riders in black caps and red coats, just as though Paul Revere and Mayor Thompson had lived in vain. Four jumps: wooden stone wall with blocks 4 feet; two brush jumps, one "railway sleeper" which is a high fence slanting away from the jumper. All hunters. Twice around, 75 per cent for performance, 25 per cent for conformation.

"The Phantom," owned by Mrs. Louis A. Huger Jr., ridden by August A. Huger Jr., took first. The entire event was exciting, and included a fall that might have been a bad one. Wills T. Engle, riding "April Showers," came to the sleeper. "April Showers" didn't clear, hit the obstruction and went into the air. And Engle went off his horse's back and over his head, turning a somersault and landing head first. But he was on his feet again and mounting and escorting "April Showers" over the rest of the

ST. LOUIS POSTAL RECEIPTS GAIN

Postal receipts in St. Louis in April were $1,088,166.27, a gain of $2987.90 over those of April last year, according to figures made public by the Postmaster-General in Washington yesterday. Kansas City also showed a substantial gain, $897,401.26, an increase of $22,518.92. The increase was steady for the country at large, advances being shown, both at large and selected cities, and the 50 industrial cities.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight for the rights of all parties, never favoring any party, always opposing privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with anything less than the best, always be ready to accept the most drastic and necessary reforms, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

JOSEPH PULITZER

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

For a Monumental Postoffice On the Union Station Plaza.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE POST-DISPATCH:
THROUGHOUT the efforts of our city fathers and many of our organizations, we have been successful in having the new Federal Building placed on the Memorial Plaza, where it will add to the city's beauty. These same organizations should use their best efforts to have the Government give us a monumental postoffice building on the Union Station Plaza, where it also will add to the beauty of our city. The city is spending many millions to enlarge our streets, build plazas and beautify St. Louis, therefore it behooves our Board of Aldermen, Chamber of Commerce, and other organizations to put their shoulder to the wheel and urge the U. S. Government to give us a representative building in keeping with some of the many improvements that are being made in Washington.

The present building is hidden away in a back alley on Clark avenue, where it is lost to view. If another building is placed back there, it will only be another warehouse. The Spirit of St. Louis calls for better achievements. Let us hope that we can induce Uncle Sam to give us a Postoffice that will dignify the Postal Department as well as our City.

LARGE TAXPAYER REALTOR.

Query.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE POST-DISPATCH:
IN following the fortunes of the small loan legislation that has been before the Missouri Legislature, I was very much impressed by the testimony given before the Judiciary Committee by a representative of the Russell Sage Foundation. He explained in detail just why Section 16 of the Sage law was omitted from the Missouri bill, but he failed to state why the clause in Section 18, which was also aimed at salary buying, was deleted from the section after its introduction in the Senate.

That is the question to be answered.
RUSSELL KIRKPATRICK.

The Persuasive Power Trust.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE POST-DISPATCH:
IN connection with the Wisconsin terminable permit scandal, it might be worthwhile to note several facts in connection with utility relations of the various municipalities not only in Wisconsin, but throughout the entire country.

In practically every large city in the United States, municipal officials holding key positions affecting utility control are themselves members of the so-called Power Trust. "Transportation experts" likewise are members of the Power Trust and in many instances its most active propagandists. Municipalities that have spent hundreds of thousands of dollars for "expert transportation" advice have not received merely "canned" Power Trust propaganda from these "experts," who, unknown to the general public, are actually themselves members of the so-called Power Trust. Municipalities seeking expert advice have thus received instead Power Trust propaganda through which, in the period between May, 1914, and up to the present time, they have been bilked out of billions of dollars.

Another Dangerous Crossing.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE POST-DISPATCH:
MOTORISTS who drive past the intersection of St. Louis avenue and Glasgow avenue, will at once remember this dangerous intersection. There have been three deaths and numerous accidents at this corner and nothing has been done to remedy this condition. Red or yellow plug lights should be placed on St. Louis and Glasgow avenues to warn motorists. The ball game crowds race north on Glasgow avenue to St. Louis, then race east on St. Louis, where there is a head-on collision with traffic on St. Louis avenue, going west. As the go-stop signal changes at St. Louis and Elliott avenue and motorists think they can dash west on St. Louis avenue to Grand without stopping, forgetting Glasgow avenue, the intersection before Grand avenue.

If this letter prevents future accidents at this spot and saves a human life, it has answered the purpose for which it was written.

A ST. LOUIS AVENUE RESIDENT.

As to Patronizing Home Industry.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE POST-DISPATCH:
I JUST read an article in the newspaper saying that our Board of Public Service has awarded a contract for cabinet work to a Chicago broker in preference to a St. Louis manufacturer because the Chicago bid was lower by one dollar on an estimate of $150,000.

This is certainly showing a wonderful example of loyalty to St. Louis and should make wonderful reading if placed in an advertisement by our Chamber of Commerce when they ask the people of St. Louis to patronize local industries. We cannot expect our city to grow as it should if our own public officials refuse to co-operate with the rest of the citizens in an effort to put our city ahead. In a case of this kind it would not only benefit the manufacturer that received the contract, but also many other parties as whatever profit is made on this job will not be spent in St. Louis or deposited in St. Louis banks, but will go to help Chicago and the State of Illinois.

CONSTANT READER.

A WARNING TO ST. LOUIS.

It would be a denial of self-government if the Missouri Legislature opened a new way for the St. Louis Public Service Co. to obtain a franchise which the local Board of Aldermen, in the interest of the city, has refused to grant. Yet the Legislature is about to do this very thing. Two years ago the St. Louis Public Service Co. was at the City Hall seeking a 30-year extension to its present surface service franchise. The opposition of the Aldermen, who became convinced that with rapid transit impending it would be against the interest of the community to grant this extension, checked the company, and the city thereby was placed in a position of enviable freedom to await developments.

Subsequently the city's Transportation Survey Commission recommended legislation for the city: (1) That it be given the right to assess against private property a part of the cost of rapid transit lines, as well as to build, operate and own such improvements; (2) that the period of municipal improvement bonds be lengthened from 20 to 50 years; (3) that the municipality be given the right to condemn property in excess of that actually needed for these improvements; (4) that the State Public Service Commission be given the right with the city's consent to issue terminable permits to public utilities in lieu of existing franchises.

All these bills were taken to Jefferson City, and they have all passed the House. They are now in the Senate. The Post-Dispatch endorses the first three bills and hopes they will pass. In opposing the terminable permit bill, it does not intimate that the Commission wishes to put the interest of the street railway company above that of the community. It prefers to believe the Commission has not realized the terminable permit would pave the way for a virtually perpetual franchise and deprive the city of that freedom in the matter of transportation which the wisdom of the Aldermen has preserved.

Legislators from other parts of the State, including Kansas City, were quick to see the peril of permanent franchises for public utilities and wanted none for their own communities. They amended the bill restricting its operations to St. Louis city alone. The representatives of St. Louis in the Legislature would not consciously, we believe, aid in undoing the excellent work done by the Board of Aldermen when that body preserved the freedom of the city in this important matter. We can only believe that those in the lower branch of the Legislature permitted this bill to go unchallenged because they did not understand it. We confidently expect that the representatives of St. Louis in the State Senate will refuse to support the bill now that they do understand it.

Mayor Miller tells the Post-Dispatch he is for the bill, because (1) the Transportation Commission recommended it; (2) "it will enable the utilities to finance themselves." If the Mayor had followed the fight made by the street railway company for permission to turn control of the system over to a Delaware holding company, he would know that this transfer was granted upon the representation that in this way the company could "finance" itself. After first approving it, the Mayor later opposed the other franchise for the company, but only the opposition of the Aldermen prevented it being granted in the first instance. City Counselor Muehler yielded to the judgment of Mr. Kelker, the Commission's engineer, who, he says, an "expert." This is no technical problem for engineering or other experts. It is a simple question which any interested citizen possessed of the facts can easily answer. Would it be wiser for the city to retain its entire freedom in planning future transportation, or to jeopardize that freedom and open the way for a perpetual franchise for use of the streets?

It is a deception to make the point that the terminable permit bill proposes only an enabling act. The company is not able now to obtain through the Board of Aldermen a limited extension of its existing franchise, and it should not be enabled to obtain an unlimited extension of its franchise by way of the Legislature.

The Post-Dispatch warns the city that this is about to happen.

ANOTHER HISTORIC RETREAT.

The Democrats in the State Senate have given the latest example of what Col. Roosevelt called "first shaking your fist and then shaking your finger." They delivered an ultimatum to an obstreperous Senator that he must "get out or be put out." When he refused to resign the Democratic caucus agreed to let him take a leave of absence, which, in view of his past performances, is of uncertain duration.

How like Washington Irving's story of the attack made by the Dutch, in early New York, on a fort held by the English. The Dutch Captain led his men up to the fortress and thundered out a command to surrender. The English Captain refused to surrender, and the Dutchman turned his soldiers about and marched them away. Or there was the King of France who, with 30,000 men, marched up a hill—presumably not protected by trenches and barbed wire—and then executed an orderly retreat down the same classic slope. In the manner of these old-time heroes has the Senate majority attained its objective.

WHEN A MAN IS IN JAIL.

Again we are at odds with Senator Heflin. That usually stoical statesman is perturbed by the special privileges accorded Harry Sinclair. The jailer's order banishing newspaper reporters from the dismal restraints during the oil man's incarceration is the text of an outburst from the Alabama in which he takes the Government to task for coddling millionaire criminals. If Heflin were King of America he would put Sinclair in stripes.

Regarding the temporary sartorial embellishments of the petroleum prince we are without prejudice or preference. Stripes, checks, plaids, debonair grays, dashing blues, remorseful browns or funeral blacks—the vogue, whatever it is, is all right with us. But it does seem that, when the thing that can't be done becomes a fait accompli, that is to say, when a multimillionaire goes to jail, he is entitled to some degree of privacy.

The Duke of the Dome, Tetrarch of the Teapot, the Rajah of the Ranch—by whatever patent of nobility he may live in history, the one-time Kansas druggist should now be allowed the emoluments as well as the exactions of his isolation. Wherefore, we oppose Senator Heflin's motion to make Harry Sinclair a goldfish.

A "PATERNAL" TRANSACTION.

An astonishing story was told to the Federal Trade Commission yesterday by William J. Lavarre, 30 years old, in connection with the investigation into the newspaper-buying activities of the International Paper Co.

Lavarre and Harold Hall, a New York newspaper man, acting ostensibly on their own, bought an interest in four Southern newspapers. The transactions were financed in their entirety by the paper company, which put up $870,000. Not only did the young men fail to risk any money of their own, but they accepted expense funds from the paper company and paid themselves salaries of $1250 a month each out of their borrowings.

Lavarre explained that he had gone voluntarily to Archibald R. Graustein, president of the International, to outline his proposition. It was received favorably. With incomparable naivete, Lavarre testified: "My own reaction was that he was paternally interested in two young men going out to buy newspapers. He had the cash and we had the idea."

Commissioner McCulloch, after hearing Lavarre's story, summed up this "paternal" transaction as follows:

Then it looks to me like a purchase by the International, which paid you a salary, advanced you the money for the papers and in one instance advanced you money to run the paper.

Charles O. Hearn, one of the editors engaged by Lavarre and Hall, has telegraphed his resignation to his pseudo employers, saying he never would knowingly have "agreed to become the editor of newspapers owned or circulated by the International Paper & Power Co. or any special interests."

We may draw one of two conclusions, either that the International Paper Co. is an easy mark for young promoters, or that the young promoters simply furnished window-dressing for what in effect was the purchase of four newspapers, to be used for its own purposes, by the International Co. Take your choice.

AGAIN THE HAIG.

Across the Muirfield course, scarred by a thousand bunkers, aching with endless traps, Aeolus had turned every pound of wind in the cave. "A lovely morning," mused Walter Hagen, as he slipped into his knickers, donned a flock of sweaters, gave a rakish twist to his aura of invincibility and sauntered out to win the British open championship for the fourth time.

The blasts that blew other contestants out of the reckoning and almost swept a caddy off the island offered no serious impediment to the Haig. He had already set a course record of 67 in the second installment of the story, and all he had to do to pace the procession was to play good, dependable golf in "the thunder and the lightning and the gale." That is precisely what he did.

When we lost the Ryder Cup, after an auspicious start, the consensus was that "it was a good thing for British golf." Just what effect Hagen's latest victory will have on British golf, or American golf, or golf of any other nationality, including the Scandinavian, we are unprepared to venture. But it certainly writes Hagen's name on the top line of the papyrus. The man is Napoleon, with a genius that looks on Waterloo and beholds Marengo. That is to say, he's good.

DUPO'S EIGHTH WELL.

Seven wells, each pouring out 200 barrels of oil daily, was the convincing performance of the Dupo field on Wednesday. On Thursday the eighth well roared to the tickle of nitro-glycerine and at the end of the day was rated at 800 barrels.

This eighth well, the geologists said, was outside the oil-bearing limestone formation and would simply be another hole in the ground. But George M. Timberlake, who now takes his place with "wildcat" veterans that won," refused to accept the scientists' verdict. At 538 feet the drill had penetrated the "sand," bringing in what a veteran operator described as "a good well in any man's field."

The ultimate area of the Dupo pool, situated 10 miles south of East St. Louis, is yet to be determined. It will be determined, not by the geologist, but by the plunger, or, as the oil industry knows him, the wildcat. He is the gambler of the game, who takes no man's word, accepts no decision save that of the drill. All the men who have made oil history are, or were, of that breed. From John D. Rockefeller Sr. to Harry Sinclair they were, in the beginning, wildcats.

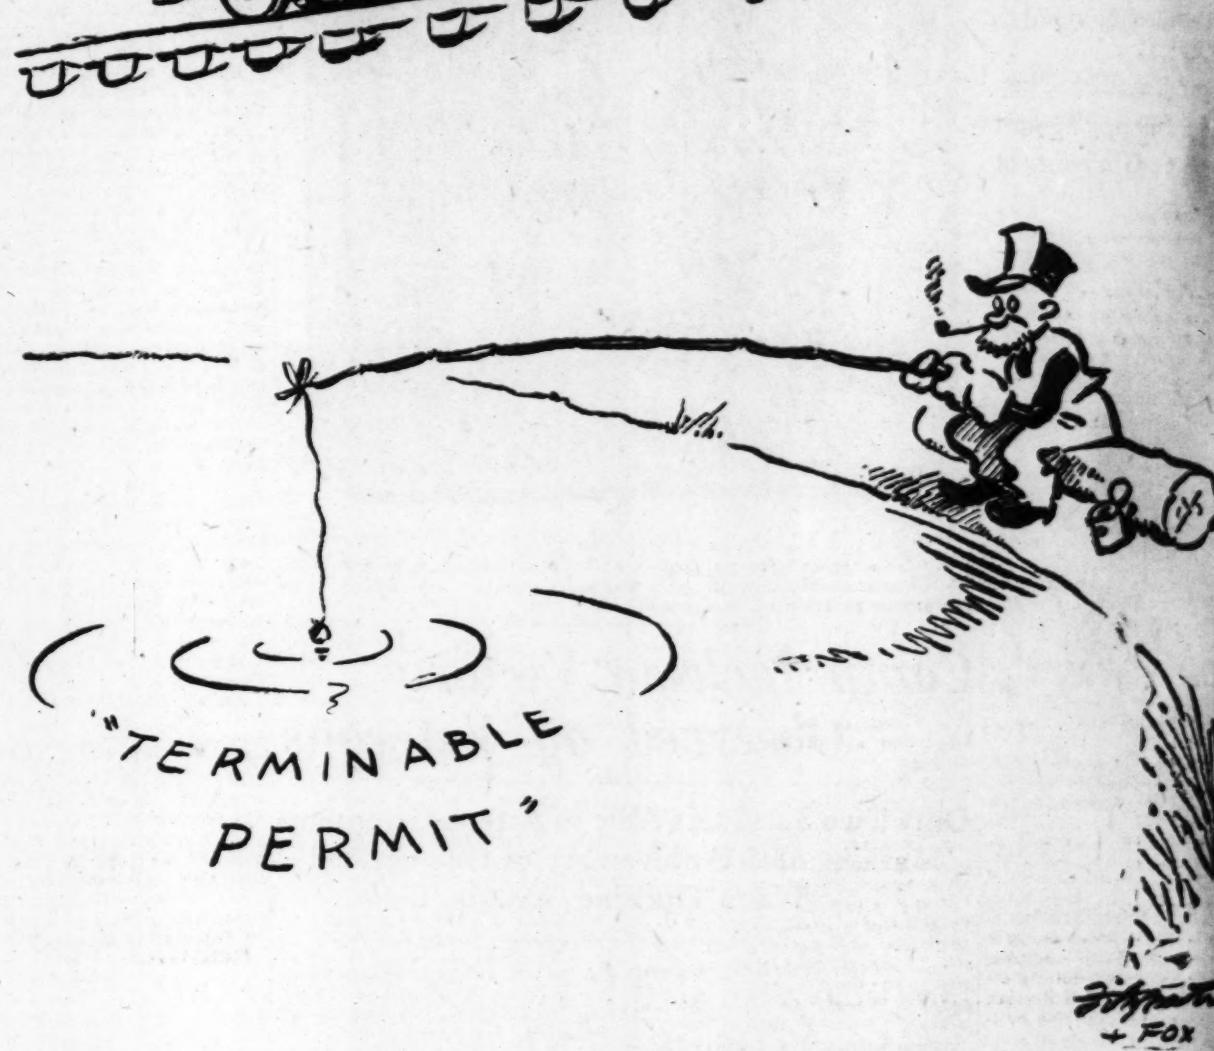

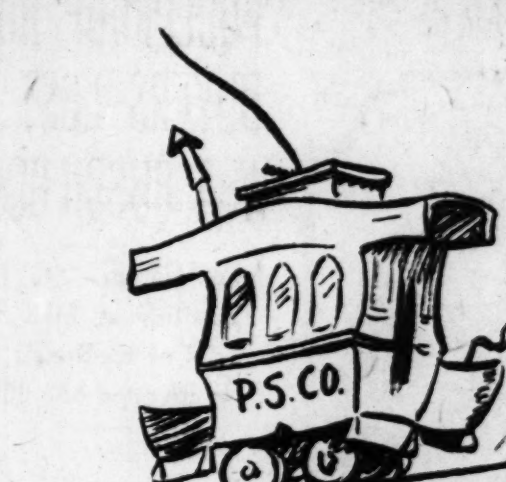

The geologist has, however, won his place in the oil industry. He misses it now and then, and when he does he joins heartily in the rejoicing. The wildcat is the warrior, who leads the forlorn hope wherever he can inspire capital to follow. He dies "broke" pretty regularly, like a good soldier of fortune, and lives, while he lives, in the royal domain of dreams.

MISSOURI'S OPPORTUNITY.

For the first time in the history of the State, Missouri stands at the threshold of a constructive conservation policy. House bill 797, which creates a fish, game and forestry commission of five non-salaried members, appointive by the Governor, is now in the Senate. If the Senate will pass it there is every reason to suppose that the Governor will sign it.

Up to this time all three of these important fields have been either neglected or almost altogether politically exploited. The bill now in the Senate proposes a policy that should have been initiated years ago. The neglect of forestry in the Ozarks is a serious economic loss to the State. One of the finest hardwood regions, it has been cut off and never replanted. The conservation of fish and game has been better than that, but it has never been placed upon constructive non-political lines such as those proposed by the pending measure.

It will be a pity if the Senate disappoints the expectation of the Isaac Walton League in Missouri, as well as the expectation of all other conservation forces in the State, that this bill will pass.

THE SKIPPER SPENDS A LOT OF TIME FISHING THESE DAYS.

The Talkies Win

Talkies have taken the movie world by storm and a mad scramble is in progress for plays, actors, song writers and dramatists; speaking films, thinks the Nation, are even more childish than silent ones and are accompanied by such "new outrages" as the theme song; it does not believe that legitimate drama as an art is seriously affected by the talkies.

From the Nation

NO sooner had the talking picture appeared than the movie producers plunged into the new industry with what appeared to the outsider to be an incredible rashness. But the support of the public seems already to have justified their calculations. So great was the demand for "talkies" that the industry was revolutionized in a few weeks and the silent picture became almost obsolete overnight. Literally hundreds of "shorts"—musical numbers and vaudeville acts—were turned out, in a month or two and even the negatives already on hand were hastily revised by the addition of a few scenes in dialogue. Now production has entered upon its second stage. There is a mad scramble for plays, actors, song writers and dramatists. A new trek toward Hollywood has begun and astounding sums are expended in the production of new features.

Not the slightest attention has been paid to the doubts expressed by those outside the business. The producers have disregarded the foreign market (though some do still arrange silent versions of their films) as gaily as they have dismissed the commercially unimportant protests of the deaf, and they have showed themselves in no way alarmed by the warnings pronounced by the critics who foresaw various artistic difficulties, although the fears of these latter have been pretty fully realized. Not only does the quality of the sound reproduced still leave much to be desired, but the whole technique of story-telling has regressed to the level of the commencement-day drama. Most of the dialogue is almost incredibly amateurish, and the technical dexterity painfully acquired over a period of years has been sacrificed to the talkie. Speaking films are more childish even than silent ones, and certain new outrages—notably the "theme song"—have been invented. But the public agrees with the producers. Even the small-town theaters have now been "wired" and numerous questionnaires submitted to movie audiences have revealed that they prefer the new medium. The great mass accepts the new silliness as complacently as it accepted the old, and there is, unfortunately, a good reason to suppose that 20 years will see any improvement more significant than that which has taken place in the silent film during the past 20 years. In spite of all kinds of technical development, there is still not one silent film-out of a hundred which "exists" artistically. How can we hope that the talkie will be required to develop in any different way in order to please the same audience? Meanwhile the legitimate theater—that neurotic entity which has always believed itself about to be destroyed by some competitor or other ever since the days when rope dances and the Italian opera first came to London—is again alarmed. On the one hand it is compelled to compete with the talkie theater for its audience, and on the other hand it must compete with the talkie producer for the artists. Already scores of stars famous on the stage have signed Hollywood contracts, and every week adds new names to the list. Indeed Variety, the best informed of all the journals dealing with the amusement business, predicts that many of the legitimate producers will find themselves hard pressed next year when they come to cast their productions.

According to announcements already made, 11 of the regular New York theaters will be playing talking pictures by May 7 and three of the largest legitimate producers—Sam H. Harris, William A. Brady and the Shuberts—have formed a talking picture producing organization scheduled to turn out 26 pictures next season. Nor is there any wonder that the business men of the theater should turn in that direction, for while many a Broadway play manages to scrape along on weekly gross receipts of not more than $7000 or $8000, "Close Harmony" is drawing $75,000 in Chicago, "The Wolf Song" $34,000 in Philadelphia, and "Broadway Melody" $30,000 in Kansas City.

So much for the dark side of the picture, but there is another, for though it is quite possible that within the next three or four years we will see a half or two-thirds of the New York theaters given over to talkies that would not necessarily mean that the price of gilt-edged bonds or domestic corporations has declined about 6 per cent within the past year. And as the holders of this type of securities have sustained nearly 5 per cent less than they might have got for the same issues about 12

Bondholders in a Bull Market

From the New York World.

THE shrinkage of over $500,000,000 in the market value of the outstanding bonds of the Federal Government, reported in a Washington dispatch to the New York Times, indicates one effect of the bull market of which little has yet been said. Of course this represents only a paper loss to those who have not disposed of their securities, but those who in recent months have had reasons for selling have obtained nearly 5 per cent less than they might have got for the same issues about 12 months ago. Roughly, they have lost the past year's interest by holding their fixed-interest securities through the peak of the boom in stocks. For other than Government issues the shrinkage in market values has been somewhat greater. The average price of gilt-edged bonds of domestic corporations has declined about 6 per cent within the past year. And as the holders of this type of securities have sustained nearly 5 per cent less than they might have got for the same issues about 12

WASHINGTON, May 11

THE venerable United States Senator from North Carolina—Lee Slater Overman—wants it known that, while doing saving time probably is a good thing, works a hardship on him nevertheless. He has lost one hour of sleep every day since April 22.

For a long time Senator Overman has arisen in time to take his daily nap. He is 75 years old, but he has nothing to interfere with his morning nap.

Institution of daylight saving time has cut an hour earlier, because Washington uses standard time and the radio to daylight time. At first it was difficult, but now he says it isn't so. He does admit, however, that he will come return to the regular schedule of his next fall.

He has been in the Senate 25 years, second ranking Democrat of that body for four years. He is the only outdoor amateur of his age in the United States Senate, being the ranking Democrat on the Senate, Judiciary, Appropriations and Rules committees.

HE is easily spotted on the floor of the Senate from the galleries. In fact, he has been described as looking more like a United States Senator than any of his colleagues. He possesses every physical characteristic that one expects to see in a Senator.

No one works harder or keeps more regular office hours than Senator Overman. He is at his desk every morning at 8, when Congress is in session, and he goes home until late in the afternoon. His ways can be found either at his office or the floor of the Senate.

If the Senator is not engaged in reading some Senate report or poring over the pages of some public document, he is engaged in a mystery story or novel. Anything of nature appeals to him tremendously.

Noting is the only outdoor amateur of his age in the United States Senate, being the ranking Democrat on the Senate, Judiciary, Appropriations and Rules committees.

During the war Senator Overman was one of President Wilson's right hand men. It fell to him to aid the President in his wartime measures through Congress. His letter to the chief executive is evidenced in this letter from the President:

"It is admirable the way you have been handling these important bills, and thank you with all my heart for standing by the bill which bears your name with out any compromise of any kind. You are a splendid fighter."

A Commendable Symposium

CHRISTIAN AND JEW. Edited by Isaac Landmann. (Liveright). THE literary goose laid a whole nest of truly delectable eggs in "Christian and Jew—a symposium for better understanding," edited by Isaac Landmann. Rabbi Landmann is best recalled as editor of the American Hebrew, and he has now used his talent in organizing the Permanent Commission for Better Understanding. As playwright, editor and author, he becomes the ideal man to compile the expressions "of the Universe" for the Christian problem.

The symposium includes contributions from Hendrick Willem Van Loon, Dr. Stephen S. Wise, Elmer Davis, Father Duffy, Dr. Joseph E. Ratzinger, Jacob Viner, William Collins, John Erskine, Jacob Viner, and other ardent students. It is an expression of "The Permanent Commission for Better Understanding Between Christians and Jews in America," which was organized April 15, 1927. It is composed of nine men divided in creed, but united in faith. It has as its objective the combating of post-war antagonisms and the enunciation of founded attacks on any faith and to encourage tolerance toward all. To read the list of contributors to the symposium should attract a host of readers.

"True Jew cannot be anti-Christian; true Christian cannot be anti-Jewish." This preface, a problem debated fairly and squarely, and presented with brilliant directness and simplicity. Dr. Wise truly cracks the shell of bigotry. His explanations of the Jew's self-consciousness, morbidity, petty deceit, coarseness and desertion show careful study of the sources of these qualities. He shows exemplary and shrewd insight combined with good hard sense. He would banish the education of Jewish children through the process of education, which not only enlighten the mind and clarify the will, but above all reform and ennoble the purposes of men. He further believes that if this change should not come to pass, then it will not be alone morally baneful to Christianity and perhaps even ruinous outwardly to us, but in addition, and perhaps first of all, fatally divisive of the spirit of American life. He gives the Jew the obligation of providing any possibility of "giving justification of discrimination, calculated unfriendliness and the spirit of antagonism."

Mr. Landmann has divided these papers into three groups—Jews, Christians and Protestants. Dr. Wise has been recognized as an idealist. An especially beautiful reading is found in this group in Stefan Zweig's "The Dove of Peace Goes Astray."

FRANS HALS PORTRAIT

SOLD FOR $250,000

Painting of Judith Leyster, Done Around 1625, Bought by Washington Collector.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, May 11.—A Washington art collector, whose name was withheld, has purchased for $250,000 a Frans Hals portrait, Walter Ehrlich, New York dealer, announced yesterday. The picture, "A Portrait of Judith Leyster," will be on public view for the first time next week in Ehrlich's gallery.

The subject of the portrait, Judith Leyster, was a celebrated painter herself, contemporary of Hals and the wife of one of his pupils. A historian of that time referred to her as "the veritable star of the Dutch school in the north about 1600, and the portrait was done, according to connoisseurs, between 1620 and 1625.

The painting was purchased from E. Granger of Hastings, Sussex, England, in whose family it had been for many years.

FORMER ALICIA DU PONT'S SON GIVEN TO EX-HUSBAND

Cousin for Both Parents Agree H. S. Glendenning Have Custody of 6-Year-Old Boy.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, May 11.—Custody of his 6-year-old son, Allen S. Glendenning, was awarded to Harold Sanford Glendenning yesterday by Supreme Court Justice Sherman. The boy has been in the custody of his mother, the former Alicia du Pont, adopted daughter of Alfred L. du Pont of Wilmington, Del., who obtained a divorce from Glendenning in Reno, Nev., in 1926.

On May 1 Glendenning obtained a writ of habeas corpus compelling Mrs. Glendenning to produce the boy in court.

Stipulations, agreed to by counsel for both sides, provide that the boy be in the custody and supervision of his father, and that the parents meet next Feb. 1 to consider whether the best interests of the child call for a change in custody. The court order provides that the boy may visit his mother for brief periods.

Father Nuts to Speak. The Rev. Albert Muntch, prominent of St. Louis University, will speak at 11 o'clock high mass tomorrow morning at St. Francis Xavier's (College) Church, Grand and Lindell boulevards, on "The Power and Mission of Truth."

Haines Beats Clark in Duel; Crowder Blows Up in Fourth Inning

CLARK RUN ON THIRD, LESS FANS LAST TWO MEN ON SIX PITCHES

By J. Roy Stockton Of the Post-Dispatch Staff.

BROOKLYN, May 11.—The Cardinals sported their fourth consecutive victory and their sixth in eight starts on the road, when they won another game from the Robins here this afternoon.

The score was 3 to 2.

Jim Haines and William Watson Clark engaged in a pitching duel, the former having a shutout in the ninth, when Brooklyn got two runs on a single, an error, a double and a sacrifice fly. But Jim stopped the threat by striking out Rhee and Del Bissnette in succession with the tying run on third. Haines pitched six straight strikes to the two batters and neither got a foul.

Haines was found for seven hits, while the Red Birds got only one. Haines had six strikeouts and Clark fanned seven batters.

The victory was the fourth of the season for Haines, who has not been defeated so far.

Eddie Delker, the kid infielder from Topeka, replaced Charley Gelbert at shortstop. He fanned five times and made the ninth out.

HORTON SMITH AND JOHNNY FARRELL TELL OF HAGEN'S GREAT VICTORY

EVEN HIGH WIND AND LEFT-HAND SHOT UNABLE TO STOP CHAMPION

By Horton Smith,
1929 North and South Open Champion.
(Copyright 1929.)
MUIRFIELD, Scotland, May 11.—In a terrible gale which almost blew many of the players off their feet, Walter Hagen won the British open golf championship yesterday rounds of 75 for a 292 total, leading Johnny Farrell, American open champion, the runner-up by six strokes.

This was Walter's fourth win in eight years, and is an advance compensation for the loss of the Ryder Cup, and giving America the British title eight years out of nine.

While the others were being blown out of the championship by including Leo Diegel, who took $2 Hagen played a great morning round but took a six on one hole for the first time in seven rounds of the British championship golf.

At the fourteenth, where his third shot against the wind left him short, his first long putt took him past the hole, and he missed his return, not sinking the ball until his third putt, taking four to get to the green.

Walter's golf was great, especially because of the handicap set by the gale. He was cheered 10 minutes by a crowd of 10,000 spectators at the finish.

Walter led at the end of the third round when Leo Diegel failed and Abe Mitchell and Percy Alliss, the Britons, also lost ground. No one was able to catch the Hags, although Farrell tried hard with a 75 and a 75.

I was unhappy in the gale during the morning and found plenty of trouble in the bunkers, and taking three putts on many greens for a very bad 54. But I did better this afternoon, when a 77 gave me a total score for the match of 212.

We all played at St. Andrews, the famous "Ancient" Club, today and go to Glen Eagles on Sunday, and to Manchester for a match on Monday. Then we top it off by going to the Leeds Tournament Tuesday.

Ovation for Hagen.

1928 American Open Champion.

MUIRFIELD, Scotland, May 11.—For the fourth time in eight years, Walter Hagen took under his strong wing the British Open Championship, with two 75s for an aggregate of 292, thus avenging the Ryder Cup defeat and giving America the British open trophy for eight years out of the last nine.

A crowd of about 10,000, with whom I was a great favorite gave him a magnificent ovation after he sank his last putt, winning the match, for every one realized what a spectacular golf he had shown against a gale strong enough to wreck a fishing smack.

I was sorry to see Leo Diegel fail, for he appeared to be set for victory. But he cracked badly trying to buffer the breeze, and on the second greens too tricky and fast for him. I played two steady rounds of 75 and 75 to be runner-up at 298, and with luck, I might have caught Walter. But, although playing well, I let a few strokes get away from me in the morning round. In the afternoon I took six at the eighth, because I was bunkered and then needed three putts.

By my calculations, the gale made the course five shots harder than the par figures indicate. The wind troubled MacDonald Smith, Bill Melhorn, Horton Smith, Turnesa, Johnny Golden and Ed Dudley more than the others.

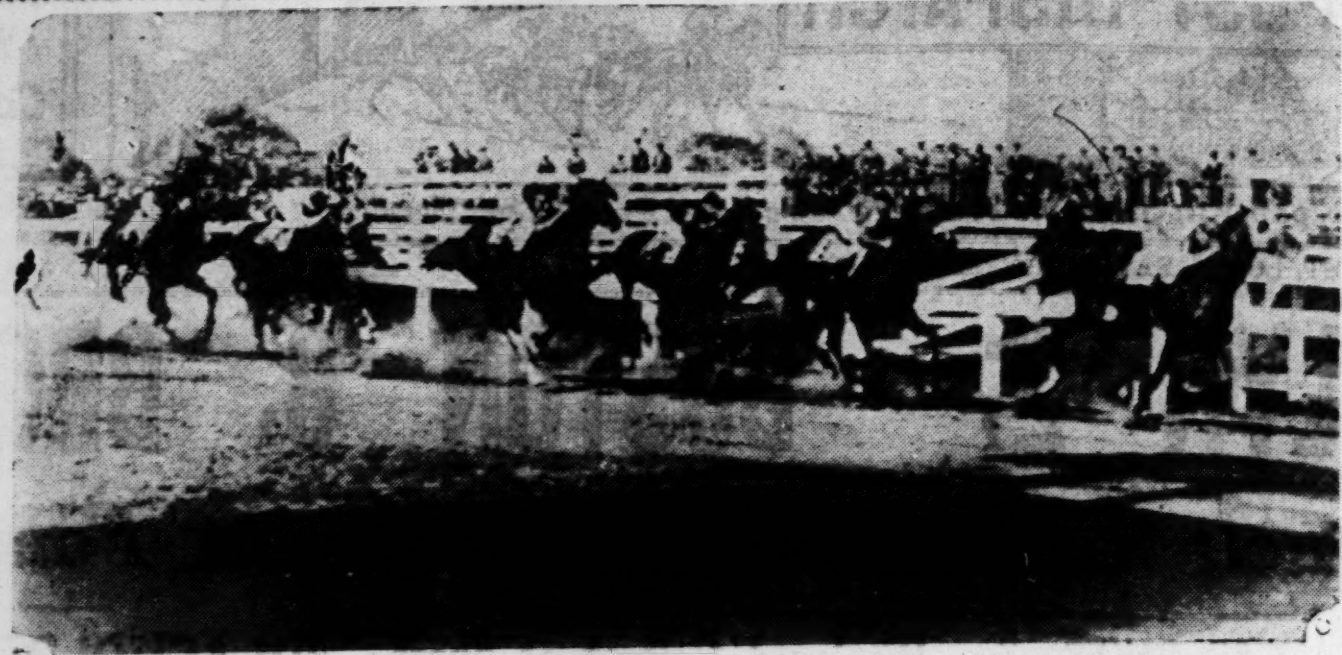

Abe Mitchell and Percy Alliss both scored 200, and Arthur Havers was the third British professional to finish with 206. Then came Archie Compston with 207, Aubrey Boomer with 209 and George Duncan with 211.

Dr. Freeland Works Out Of Difficulties Winning $50,000 Preakness Stakes

By the Associated Press.
PIMLICO, Md., May 11.—Dr. Freeland, most favored of the 11 starters in the Preakness, climax of the Maryland racing season fought clear of besetting difficulties yesterday to win and enrich Walter J. Salmon, of New York, by $52,325.

Watched by national celebrities of sports and political life and thousands of others attracted by the feature race, the Salmon colt wore down Charles Graffagnini's Minotaur and finish the mile and three-sixteenths grind a length ahead. Another length behind Minotaur came African, the R. T. Wilson Jr. colt, coupled with Dr. Freeland in the entries, while The Nut, bought this spring by Warm Stable, took the fourth place share of the added money, leading by half a length his former mate, the Harry Payne Whitney Stable, Beacon Hill.

Of the four money horses, all but African are candidates for next week's classic, the Kentucky Derby, and by their showing established themselves as threats in that race.

Dr. Freeland not only enriched his owner but the supporters in the betting, returning to them $5.70 for every $2 mutual ticket in which they invested. The showing which experts predicted the basis of Dr. Freeland's breeding as son of Light Brigade and Toodle, which came from another line of speedy runners, and the coupling of the Belmont and Wilson entry, however, cut down the mutual prices by at least 50 per cent.

BEAUMONT WIN IS PROTESTED BY ROOSEVELT HIGH

By Harold Tutthill

A fluke home run by Carr with two on, enabled Beaumont to defeat Roosevelt, 3 to 1, yesterday afternoon in a City High School baseball game at the Public Schools Stadium. The game will be protested by Coach Lee R. Carlson of Roosevelt on the grounds that the hit was not a homer, since it bounced into the stands and out again, the result being that Ed
Vogel played the ball and trapped Probst, who was on base, between third and home, for the final out.

Both Melvin Uhl of Roosevelt and Bill Slater of Beaumont were in fine fettle and Roosevelt led for six innings by one run, which was scored in the opening inning on Krus's single, Bennett's sacrifice, and Franzer's ace to left.

In the fatal seventh they were out for Beaumont when Schaberg singled to left. Probst lifted a high fly to center, which Murdoch let trickle through his fingers, Schaberg stopping at third. Carr hit along the left field foul line and the ball caromed into the stands and out again, Vogel fielding the ball and catching Probst between third and home. When Marty Byrne, the umpire, waved Probst out, Coach Victor Kirk of Beaumont rushed out on the field and protested the decision. Byrne voiced the decision, and Coach Carlson, after some minutes of debate, announced that he would continue the contest under protest.
The final outcome will be decided at a league meeting next week.

BIG TEN ATHLETES IN FOUR TRACK MEETS

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, May 11.—Big Ten track and field stars sought new records and more glory today in one triangular and three dual meets.

Indiana, Purdue and Chicago were the rivals in the three-cornered affair here, while Michigan and Wisconsin at Northwestern,
and Wisconsin at Northwestern.

It was the final parade of conference track ability before the annual outdoor Big Ten meet at Northwestern, May 24 and 25.

ENGLISH LIGHTWEIGHT OUTLINGS FLOWERS IN FAST 10-ROUND BOUT

NEW YORK, May 11.—Jack
Berg, a fighting fury from Long Island, stormed all over Bruce Flowers, New York Negro lightweight, to win a sensational 10-round decision in Madison Square Garden last night. The pair leaned heads together at the opening bell, started punching furiously and forgot to stop until the final gong.
A crowd of 10,000 cheered every minute of the milling. Berg weighed 135 1/2, Flowers 137. There were no knockdowns.

Joe Glick, Brooklyn veteran, pounded out a victory over Louis Vicentini, Chilean lightweight, in a rough 10-round opener. Glick, just a shadow of the title contender
a few months ago, outclassed the heavy hitting South American and edged out the decision in a final round rally. Glick weighed 137, Vicentini 134 1/2.

Braves' Fielder
Breaks Record
With 12 Putouts

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, May 11.

ARL CLARK, Boston
Braves' center fielder, yesterday established a new major league record by making 12 putouts and an assist in the opening game of the series with Cincinnati, which the visitors won, 5 to 2. The previous record, 11 putouts, was shared by five players, Dick Harley of the Cardinals, T. F. Harrel of the Cubs, Happy Felsch of the White Sox, Max Carey, playing with the Pirates, when he tied the mark, and Johnny Mostil of the White Sox. Mostil's achievement, recorded not quite a year ago, was the most recent.

All of Clark's putouts resulted from fly balls, and his lone assist came in the first inning when he threw home to Spohrer, who nailed Swanson trying to score. Clark's first and eighth innings, Clark retired the Bears unaided. Every Red in the game contributed to Clark's record.

LOHRDING AND GLAZER STAR IN
BEARS' VICTORY

By Jerry Bernoudy

Capturing first place in 10 of the 15 events, the Washington University track team had little difficulty in winning a three-cornered meet yesterday afternoon with McKendree College and Shur-teff College held at Lebanon, Ill.

The Bears amassed a total of 75 1/2 points to 47 for McKendree and only 12 1/2 for Shurteff.

Washington's great superiority in the field events was largely responsible for the decisive victory.
Davis, taking first place in every contest and sweeping all three places in the shotput and discus. In the running events the McKendree stars made them hold their own with the Bears, winning five of the nine races. Shurteff failed to take a first place.

Paul Miller turned in the outstanding performance of the afternoon in the 100 yard dash, winning over the bar a 112 feet 3 inches in winning the pole vault. The Bear vaulter was in his best form of the season and exceeded his nearest opponent's jump by almost a foot.

High point honors went to Charles Glazer, Washington weight man, and Saunders, McKendree sprinter, both of whom placed second of their kind in two events to score 20 points each. Glazer captured the shotput and discus, while Saunders was a handy winner in the 100 and 220-yard dashes. His time in the latter event was 22.1 seconds. This Lohrding, Bear distance man also chalked up first places in the half mile and mile runs, but he was tied in the latter race by his teammate Oble.

TAFT, WICKERSHAM AND MELLON DRA RAINEY'S FIRE SPEECH ON TARIFFS

In Address Bristling With Personalities, Illinois Democrat Denounces Bill "Monstrosity."

REPLIES BRISKLY TO INTERRUPTED

Declares Measure Would Add $600,000,000 Year to Cost of Living—"Sugar's Slimy, Sticky Trail"

By CHARLES G. ROSS, Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, May 11.—The Democratic firing against the tariff bill began in the House this afternoon, when Representative Henry T. Rainey, the veteran member from Carrollton, Ill., launched broadside against the increased sugar, lumber and shingles taxes.
To the tune of frequent Democratic applause, mixed with sarcastic flings from the other side, Rainey for two hours excoriated the Republican protective tariff theory in general and the pending measure in particular.
Describing the bill as "a monstrosity without parallel in the tariff legislation of this or of any other country," Rainey said the increased rates in the schedules named would alone add $460,000,000 to the cost of living. "And God knows," he added, "it is already high enough under the Fordney-McCumber act."

Thrusts at Mellon.
All of the rate changes, if adopted, he said, would increase living expenses between $600,000,000 and $700,000,000 a year. Rainey's speech bristled with savage personal allusions to Republican party leaders. Asserting that the new duties on glass would place an added charge of $100,000,000 a year on consumers, for the benefit of an industry in which the Secretary of the Treasury is heavily interested, he added: "That is a heavy price for the privilege of paying for the privilege of having Mr. Mellon at the head of the Treasury."

Experts had estimated, he said, that the increases on lumber and shingles would add $260,000,000 to the cost of building in the United States.
"Why were these increases made?" he asked. "They were made because the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, Representative Willis C. Hawley, lives in Oregon and a member of the sub-committee on the lumber schedules (Representative Lindie H. Hadley) lives in Washington."

"The people are to be taxed nearly $200,000,000 because they two gentlemen live in Oregon and in Washington. I congratulate them. They have been most effective. They can think of no other two citizens of my generation who have been able to fix such a charge on American consumers."

He added that the new lumber and shingle tariff had been voted by the committee when the country already was "laboring under a duty on logs, imposed because a former chairman of the committee (Representative Joseph W. Fordney) had large logging interests in Washington."

Rakes Secrecy of Drafting.
Rainey said the 15 Republican members of the committee had framed the new bill by the simple process of calling the tariff beneficiaries into a secret session and asking them what they wanted.
"That's the way the tariff was revised," he said. "The representatives of the 14,000 millionaires who bask in the sunshine of prosperity made possible by privileges were heard. Democrats on the committee were not permitted to be heard, though some of us, Hull, Garner, Collier and myself, were members of the committee before any of the 15 Republicans were on it. We were there when some of those who framed the bill were still at home dreaming of the day when they would come here to represent the privileged interests, as they have so well succeeded in doing."

Shaking his white mane, the sturdy old warrior, flung his lance at the Republicans till he had three or four on their feet, shouting retorts.
"You hold your caucuses," he roared, "and what is the result? The result after two hours of discussion is a bill that adds $600,000,000 to the cost of living."
